Water is the most important natural resource in our daily lives. However, only 1% of the world's water is usable to us. About 97% is salty sea water, and 2% is frozen in glaciers and polar ice caps. Thus that 1% of the world's water supply is a precious commodity necessary for our survival. Demand for fresh water has increased largely in the last 5 decades, and is still rising. The need for fresh water has caused severe problems.

There are a number of reasons that lead to the growing crisis. The first is water waste. Around 70% of the fresh water is utilized for growing crops. It takes 1,000 tons of water to grow just one ton of wheat. Unfortunately, about 60% of that water is wasted. Better irrigation methods are needed to help the situation.

Pollution is also a big problem. Many of the world’s great rivers, such as the Ganges in India, are seriously polluted. Nevertheless, 350 million people rely on the Ganges. Their health is influenced by the health of rivers. Steps are being taken to clean up some rivers, but it is expensive and time-consuming.

The overuse of water has also become a huge threat to water supplies. In America, underground sources provide 95% of the country’s fresh water. Levels are rapidly falling because a large proportion of water is used for crops and livestock. The key is to reduce water demand and to improve management of water reserves.

46. What is the main idea of the article?
(A) Overuse of water has posed great threat to the USA.
(B) There should be law against underground water exploitation.
(C) The shortage of fresh water is a serious problem that keeps growing bigger.
(D) The Ganges, which supports 350 million people in India, is badly polluted.

47. What does the article suggest about the overuse of water?
(A) To lower water demand is an important way to solve the problem.
(B) Sea levels are quickly falling.
(C) Most of our water is used to raise animals.
(D) It has become a big problem in the last 5 years.

48. What is another word for rely?
(A) sanitary (B) polluted (C) react (D) depend

49. What percentage of the world’s fresh water is used for growing food?
(A) 2%  (B) 60%  (C) 70%  (D) 95%

50. What is the problem with cleaning up rivers?
(A) It takes a lot of time and money.  (B) Not many people support it.
(C) It is against the law.  (D) It is a waste of time.
